Country produce firm, but in light receipt.—Gazette. NEW YORK DRY-GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK DRY-GOODS MARKET.

MARCH 11.—There has been a little more general trade with the jobbing houses; still the business is not what we would term active. There is much more being done than is thought possible, but each day's footings show larger results than the numerous small bills gave promise of. The request at jobbing hands shows an improvement in the demand for season able goods of all descriptions, but selections are made with candion.

With agents of cotten goods the chief business is in orders, which are much larger than has been known for many years at the corresponding season, and as a consequence receipts of all leading fabrics are quickly disposed of, and jobbers pressing in their demands for larger quantities.—Journal of Commerce.

MARCH 11.—Wook.—The market has not varied. Manufacturers are taking very limited quantities of clothing grades, which are offered freely, cut not chanced in price. Carpet stock has further highly, and is held as before. Take the market as a whole, the disposition is to meet buyers promptly without yielding in price.—Journal of Cummerce.
